Discussion Questions
Of course, these questions have yes-or-no answers. We try not to ask questions that require multi-word answers or logical thinking. Patients may respond with comments and memories, but we do not put anyone on the spot. So, no questions require long answers. However, patients may offer longer comments. If no one answers, answer yourself. If patients' answers are illogical, just say something like, “Hmmm!” Answer yourself if necessary to keep the conversation going. Smile, nod, and be cheerful to help engage patients at home or in facilities. Emotions are more important than facts.
